PRACTICE DEFENSE OF PACIFIC COAST

Naval and Military Maneuvers at Puget Sound—Not Preparations For Possible War With Japan.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Seattle, Wash., July 5.—The waters of Puget Sound in this vicinity are to be the scene during the next week or ten days of the most extensive naval and military maneuvers that have ever taken place on the Pacific coast. In view of the talk of possible war with Japan the maneuvers have attracted much attention. The war department, however, announces that the maneuvers are without any special significance and are only in the nature of practice work similar to that carried out along the Atlantic coast for several years past. The maneuvers will be participated in by the state militia and the coast artillery. The problem will be to defend Seattle from a sea attack. The fleet, composed of vessels from San Francisco and other coast points, will attempt to run by Forts Warren, Casey and Flagler, while land troops will attack the forts from the rear.

Charleston, S. C., July 5.—During the ten days beginning today Fort Mifflin and vicinity is to be the scene of the most notable army maneuvers held in this part of the country in a long time. The participants will include, in addition to the coast artillery of the United States army, practically the entire body of the state militia of South Carolina and several companies of the National Guard of Alabama.

MILLIONS WENT UP IN SMOKE THURSDAY

Between Fifteen and Twenty Were Spent For Fourth of July Fireworks.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, July 5.—It cost between fifteen and twenty million dollars for young America to show his patriotism yesterday. This for fireworks alone, without the counting of bandages and amputations. The trade in fireworks this year has been record-breaking. Representative fireworks dealers along Park Place, who handle most of the trade, said today that New York's fireworks bill this year would come close to $20,000,000, while the remainder of the country would bring the total to nearly ten times that figure, at a moderate estimate. While the old-fashioned crackers still hold their place of supremacy in the heart of the small boy there have also been invented in late years innumerable other ways to burn up money.
Winner of Automobile: Miss Louise Higgins, aged 5 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Higgins of Prospect avenue, drew the lucky number that won the automobile at the Golden Eagle. The number was 2676.

MONUMENT TO HEROISM OF BEARDLESS YALE STUDENTS

Hundred Twenty-Eight Years Ago College
Boys Held New Haven Until Patriots Came To Drive Out British.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New Haven, Conn., July 5.—One hundred and twenty-eight years ago today, on July 5, 1779, a small body of beardless Yale students marched bravely out to the edge of the town to give battle to the British veterans who had come to take New Haven. Today a monument commemorating the heroism of the youthful students was placed on the spot at West Bridge, where the British were repulsed.
The monument cost $20,000 and was designed by James Edward Kelly of New York. The monument consists of three heroic figures of heroic size and dressed in the costume of the college boys of colonial times. They are seen operating a piece of field artillery and the whole is mounted on a pedestal of granite suitably inscribed.
The conflict which the memorial commemorates was one of the stirring incidents of the American Revolution. The British had planned to capture Washington to weaken his forces at West Point in order to defend the Connecticut coast. New Haven, then a town of 1,800 inhabitants, was to be the object of the British attack. President Stiles, from the steeple of Yale college, saw the British fleet preparing to sail from West Haven, and called out the students for the defense of the town.
Under General Garth the British forced a landing, hotly opposed by the Yale boys and the patriots, and proceeded to plunder and destroy. A pitched battle was fought at the north-west corner of Broadway, and the defenders were eventually overwhelmed by superior numbers. Meanwhile the British had landed 1,500 men at Light-house Point, and advanced from the east, with the intention of forming a junction with those in the town and crushing all opposition, while Sir George Collier bombarded the town from the warships in the harbor.
By this time, however, the entire countryside was aroused, and the patriots gathered in such numbers that the British withdrew and burned Fairfield. The heroic students of Yale were therefore left in possession of the college town.

SOCIETY OF FUTURE OF THE AMERICANS

Prof. Rose of State University Predicts Government Control of Public Utilities, Change in Political Parties, and in Standard of Values.
Madison, Wis., July 5.—"Our crowded colleges are rearing a breed that will not place before the golden calf, and from there centers most of the social leadership of the future is bound to come," said Prof. E. A. Ross, of the sociology department at the University of Wisconsin, in a lecture given to summer students this afternoon. He spoke particularly of the influence upon America's social development of the disappearance of free land, and predicted many changes in the next thirty years. Chief among these were large growth in government control of public utilities, a shift in the line of cleavage in political parties, and a change in the standard of human worth from money to efficiency. He made a forecast of the probable workings of the mounting tendencies discernible under the surface of American society, speaking, briefly, as follows:
"The sharpest corner American society has turned, since the destruction of slavery was that in the early '90s, when the last homestead in the rain belt was taken up. It closed the era of the free land epoch, and ushered in the era of limited natural opportunities, and extensive development. In the last four census years the contribution of farms to our domestic exports was respectively 92, 82, 72, and 60 per cent, showing the decline in relative importance of agriculture as the extension of the crop bearing area, but its sure, a great irrigable area, but its development will be slow and costly."

Political Change.
"It is hard to say whether our two-party system will persist or yield to a system of deals between parliamentary groups, as in most European countries. Certain it is that the line of cleavage, will shift. 'Class-strife' rather than sectional-strife will become the substance of our politics. The political cleavage most natural to our next phase would, give us one party championing a type of social union where, as in the past, a man's title to consideration, wealth, and benefit depends upon the amount of his property, and another party standing for a type of social union where, as in the labor union, a man's title to participation is his manhood."

Gold vs. Efficiency.
"A healthy community will grade its members by a composite standard that gives due weight to family personality, character, prowess, culture, and possessions. This standard we still apply to women, but for men the sheer money standard wrought out among heavy spenders has triumphed in our great cities and spread with alarming rapidity to the minor centers. Not a day passes but new communities and new interests surrender to commercialism. Yesterday the office, the sanctum, the club; today the pulpit, the studio, the laboratory; tomorrow, perhaps, the court of justice, the council chamber, the senate. Naturally the result has been a whetting of greed and an unprecedented carnival of boodle, graft, fraud, and monopoly extortion. Relief from Mammonism will come, not from a halcyon revival, but from a revolution of opinion, from a change in the standard of human worth. The coming standard will not be of birth, prowess, culture, money, or character alone. The only test of man's worth that can dispute the sway of the pecuniary standard is efficiency. Over against the dollar standard of success professional schools, associations and periodicals will raise the standard of workmanship. In the public service the trained sanitarian, statistician, accountant, teacher, engineer or warden will oust the henchman. Free land gone, we shall soon see an end of the West, that buoyant society of the rising sap where opportunity is equal, ownership general, manhood at a premium, birth and station at a discount. But though the physical West shall never lose, there is spiritual West we shall never lose, that shall permeate the ideals of physical West brought forth."

Practical Subjects.
The program of special lectures for next week in the University of Wisconsin summer session is full of subjects of a particularly practical nature. "The Soil Where Crops Grow" is the subject of a lecture to be given by Prof. C. W. Stoddard of the college of agriculture, in which he will explain the elements of which soils are composed, the bacteria found there, the method by which plants are fed from it, the results of drainage and irrigation, and the use of different fertilizers. A second subject, which also deals with eminently practical matter is that of M. S. Ellen Huntington's lecture on "The Preparation of Food." In the laboratories of the home economics department she will give demonstrations in illustration of the lecture. The week's program also includes an excursion to Lake Geneva by the geology class under Prof. N. M. Fenneman, for the study of shore phenomena.

CELEBRATION WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

JANESVILLE'S FOURTH ENTER-TAINS CROWDS ESTIMATED AT

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND

Everything Moves Off Very Smoothly —Not a Hitch in the Day's Program.

Janesville celebrated a Fourth of July celebration with three parades, five bands, public speaking in the park, a balloon ascension and parachute drop, free street entertainments and brilliant illuminations and it kept its promise. While conservative estimates place the crowds that thronged the streets from early until late at fifteen thousand visitors it is safe to say that twenty-five thousand enjoyed the day to the utmost of their capacity and a better dressed, more intelligent and more enthusiastic crowd would have been hard to find. They came from all over. Madison, White-water and Clinton home-comings furnished their share of visitors; all along the Mineral Point division of the St. Paul road, from Evansville, Edgerton, Milton, Milton Junction and from the surrounding country they thronged into the city attracted by the fact Janesville was to celebrate.

Different Attractions
It was early in the morning when the crowds began to arrive. By seven there were several hundred people in the Court House Park eating their breakfasts from baskets. The Ft. Atkinson band arrived a little after eight accompanied by two hundred and fifty Ft. Atkinson residents, then came the biggest contingent—an estimate of the Line City residents who visited Janesville is placed at twenty-five hundred. The morning parade, composed of the industrial features of the city was excellent. The speaking in the park, including the reading of the Declaration of Independence, by Miss Amy Woodruff, the prayer by Father James McGinnity, and the oration was given by Rev. J. W. Laughlin. The Imperial Band furnished the music and several thousand listened attentively to the exercises.

Two Balloon Ascensions
Then there were two balloon ascensions and parachute drops, one at twelve-thirty and one at seven. Both were very beautiful and delighted the vast crowds throughout the entire city. In the afternoon the balloon caught on telephone wires and the fire wagon was used with the big extension ladder to get the huge bag down. Band concerts on the different stands in both morning, afternoon and evening with raucous attractions on the North Main street stand and the one on the Corn Exchange were also features that were appreciated by the crowds. Shortly after six the Ft. Atkinson band gave a complimentary concert at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets that was most delightful and later in the evening the Imperial and Beloit bands gave concerts in the park and Corn Exchange.

Brilliant Illuminations
The streets were brilliantly illuminated for the evening and the ghostly procession of automobiles, twenty-six in number, that sped down through the city, led by Alderman Jones' car with electric lights in gay festoons on wheels and in the shape of a horse-shoe over the car added to the beauty of the scene. The decoration committee had made special plans for the decoration of the stores and their call was responded to in a manner befitting the day. Private residences were also gay with bunting and flags and later in the evening private exhibitions of fireworks including many beautiful designs added to the splendor.

The Nonesuch Bros. Circus
The real feature of the day was the Nonesuch Bros. Circus parade in the afternoon. To select the best feature would be no accurate choosing from a dozen. In fact the judges who were appointed to pick out the best exhibit were forced to select four—the Dinosaur, the Singing School, the Spanish-American War Veterans including the cavalry, artillery and hospital corps, and Orion Sutherland—as the four best and they met this morning to decide which was to be awarded the first place.

Very Attractive
The entire parade showed much care and attention on the part of the exhibitors. The cages resembled the genuine circus cages more closely than ever. The boys' Indian contingent headed by J. A. Fisher with parrot, a travois and a pumpos wrapped in a blanket on a diminutive one was excellent. The lion tamer with W. W. Watt as Barker, the two bear cubs in their six-horse equipment, the cowboys, the camel with LaFayette Myers and Walter Helms as fore and hind legs, the great elephant, the clowns with base drum, the mounted police headed by Mark Bostwick and E. V. Whiton, the lion tamer with clipped dogs for lions were all deserving of special notice.

Bands Played Well
The bands played exceptionally well. The quick sharp inspiring music of the circus ragtime peated forth from many wagons gay with bunting and the bands on foot kept up a continual time so that there was no lack of melody. Then the band men themselves outdid and responded to every call for just one more tune. The jolting wagons and hard seats were uncomfortable but they played bravely and the people cheered and enjoyed the whole parade. Part of the Imperial Band arrayed as a clown band did excellent work and really played in harmony and tune not expected from their costumes.

Busy Scenes

The first wagons appeared at the Fair Grounds shortly after one and from then until a few minutes of three the scene was a busy one. The drivers had their red coats and caps to put on, the horses their plumes and decorations, signs had to be tacked onto the wagons, the wigs of Colonel Nonesuch and Brother adjusted, the Water Wagon loaded up from a brown wagon, the bears given a final pat, the horses quieted, the bands strung out so no two would be together, the photographers given a chance to snap their pictures and all the different last things to be finished before the great parade started—"bigger, better, grander, more elaborate than ever, two miles long with entire new features." The line-up of the great Nonesuch Bros. and the participants in the features that make Janesville's Fourth distinctive was as follows:

Don Cecilio Buez, minister plenipotentiary to the United States from Paraguay, was born at Asuncion, Paraguay, on February 1st, 1852. He was educated under private tutors and at the grammar schools, afterwards studying law. His wife was a Miss Marcelina Allende. Don Cecilio began his diplomatic career as the representative of his country to the republic of Mexico. He was also a delegate to the Second Pan-American conference, which was held in Mexico City. He is regarded as one of the most able of the foreign diplomats at Washington and speaks English fluently.

FATHER HAD HOPES FOR HIM.

Bumptyous Youth Got Benefit of a Little Plain Talk.

The following is related of a certain well-known New York business man and his son. The son had just left Harvard and was fired with ambitions which did not include going into his father's office. When he arrived home his parents began seriously to discuss his future. He stated what his ideas were and spoke of the professions as most likely to afford scope for his genius. The law, he thought, would be the likeliest career. His father, however, had not a very high opinion of his abilities, and said so without mincing words. "I think," he declared, "you had better make a beginning by adorning one of my office stools. We can think about your taking up the law afterward." The young man did not see it that way. Office life he loathed, and said it was an existence fit only for a dog. "Well, my son," returned the father, dryly, "you're not a dog yet, but you'll grow."

INDUSTRIES OF
CITY IN PARADE

SHOWING WAS PERHAPS THE BEST EVER SEEN HERE.

NEARLY A MILE OF FLOATS

Were Marched in Line by ex-Alderman Eugene Fish—Thousands Were Pleased.

It was the splendid industrial parade of the morning, by common consent the best ever given in the city of Janesville, that aroused enthusiasm to a high pitch and spurred the actors in other features of the day's mummery and drama to their best efforts. Practically unaided, Eugene Fish planned and directed this big exhibition on wheels, and to him belongs high credit for the magnificent showing. The manufacturers, and merchants also responded with painstaking individual effort and many of the floats were original in conception and executed with admirable taste and understanding of artistic values.

Headed by C. K. Millmore, as mounted marshal, a platoon of fourteen of the Fire Police in their impressive dress uniforms, and the jaunty, white-costumed Ft. Atkinson band of twenty-four pieces, the caravan began to move shortly after ten o'clock. Twenty-one of the Spanish American War Veterans on horseback fell in behind the band and were followed by four carriages containing the mayor, aldermen, other city officials, and the speakers of the day, and a vehicle occupied by twenty-four little girls garbed in patriotic colors and grouped by Miss Maria Gibbs.

The outlooker had scarcely doffed his hat to the city's head executive when the second section, headed by the Imperial Band, came into view. There were two floats put on by the Charles S. Putnam furniture establishment, one fitted out with a dining table and chairs and the other with a handsome brass bed in which two lively little pickaninies slumbered. These were followed by the Frederick S. Wetmore Co.'s purple chariot containing five little girls, posed with flowing marcelled tresses of unusual beauty, who tossed small samples of hair-tonsics to the eager throng.

The Burdick-Murray hardware and harness establishment was represented by a large paneled float, Raumann Bros., by a load of "Sleepy Eye" flour; Fred Hessebauer, by a vehicle heralding his carpet-cleaning establishment; Roosting Brothers, by a pyramid of "Paritan" flour; William Hughes by an attractive load of coal and wood; the Janesville Chautauque, by a vehicle papered with the pictures of the talent engaged for the 1907 season; the Janesville Lighthouse Rod Co., by a miniature house fortified against bolts from the sky; and the Janesville Cement Shingle Co., by an exhibit of the roofing tiles.

The red-coated Milton band of musicians headed the third section. A mammoth "Grand Duke" cigar was carried on the first float. The elegantly appointed waffle wagon was in line to advertise the virtues of "Gold Medal" flour and a large, fully decorated delivery wagon set forth the compliments of the Gund Brewing Co. Clarence Phillips posed as a "George Clymer," one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, in the stately sail-boat "Reliance" emblematic of cigars of the same name. Rich tapestries and oriental rugs combined to make the J. M. Bostwick & Sons' Persian drawing-room a scene of surpassing beauty and five little girls presided with solemn and fetching dignity. The W. L. McNamara Hardware Co.'s magnificent exhibit of "Keen-Kutter" cutlery brought up the rear of this section.

The next one was headed by the fine band from Evansville, with its imposing leader. A patent manure-spreader was the contribution of the Bower City Implement Co. (P. M. Doherty). Burton & Blensell had a gasoline engine and windmill in full operation. Splendid horses drew the Janesville Machine Co.'s big exhibit of four pieces, including a sulky gang-plow, a cultivator, a planter, and a disk-harrow. A great roll of paper, made to reproduce a huge cannon-cracker and hemmed in by a web of 100 newspapers in the making, carried the legend: "THE BIGGEST RE-PRINT OF ALL THE NEWS IN THE JAMESVILLE DAILY GAZETTE." William Heise was the scarlet printer's devil curled up on top of the cracker; Lawrence Thiele announced that it would be set off on the bridge; and John Fulton was driver. Six white horses drew the "Independence" cement-mixer put on by Contractor W. J. Hill and in full operation all along the line of march. E. R. Winslow was represented by two great vans carrying "Golden Palace" flour. Two clowns in a high-wheeled gig represented the C. W. Kemmerer livery and this was followed by a float representative of the Janesville Steam Dye Co. The Misses Ethel Roberts and Marie Schmitz, on horseback, carried a banner announcing that Van Pool Bros. build houses and there was an attractive float telling about the Janesville Candy Kitchen conducted by W. J. Phillips. Beloit's excellent band headed the last section composed of the fire department. Chief Klein rode at the head and the Fire Police wagon preceded the hose wagons and hook and ladder. The brass and wood-wind never shone more brightly, the horses never stomped more proudly, and the clippers never looked their parts more bravely. When the last section had gone by a general murmur of pleased surprise and approval ran the full length of the thickly crowded thoroughfares.

He Was an Exception.
The late Bishop James Newbury Fitzgerald, in an address in St. Louis, once declared that sympathy, far more than eloquence or learning, made for success in the ministry. "Too many of us," he said, "say the worst, the most inappropriate things. Thus a young Baptist friend of mine, confiding with a housebreaker in a jail, drowned. 'Ah, my friend, let us remember that we are here to-day and gone to-morrow.' You may be; I ain't," the housebreaker answered shortly.

REVIVAL MEETINGS
END SUNDAY NIGHT

Union Meeting Will Close Over Month of Daily Religious Services.

The big revival which has been in progress at the rink building all during the month of June and up to the present in July will close Sunday evening. The final meeting will be a union service under the auspices of the four churches, which have fathered the religious awakening movement.—The Methodist, Episcopal, Baptist, Presbyterian and Congregational. Up to date four hundred converts have been made in this city and an increase is expected before the meetings end. Tonight Dr. Scoville will speak on "The Judgment." Messrs. Smith and Van Camp will sing a thrilling duet, "The Judgment Morning." Dr. Scoville will conduct but three more services in Janesville, tonight, tomorrow night and Sunday night. His work here has had good results, as it has everywhere. Since January 1 of the present year he has taken over four thousand confessions.

Four More Days For Extra Votes

Contestants Taking Advantage of The Special Offer, and All Are Storing Away a Large
Reserve Vote to Poll on the Last Day.

GO SEE THE BEAUTIFUL DIAMONDS, AND THEN VOTE

This Great Contest Has Become the Talk of Rock County and Promises To Be the Largest and Most Successful of Its Kind Ever Held in This Section of the Country.

Various candidates reported fine success yesterday. All seem to be having fine support and the result is more doubtful than ever. It now seems that the winners of the contest will be those who can do the most effective work from now until the final close of the friendly struggle.

The contestants that win the diamonds, trips and watches will have to share the honors with some of their competitors for the reason that all the leading candidates will probably wind up in a bunch with only a few thousand or perhaps hundreds of votes determining the winners. In such a case it would be no disgrace to be beat. All can not win the prizes, but every candidate that receives loyal support is thereby honored by their friends.

All contestants should strain every nerve and make the utmost effort from now on as one additional certificate might be the one needed to land you in the first place.

All certificates issued during this week and on next Monday until 9 p.
m. can be held by the contestants or their friends for the final count. After next Monday we go back to the schedule of votes as published at the start of the contest. Positively no extra vote offer after July 8th. Get busy.

Origin of Name "Nicotine."
The name "nicotine" is a reminder of Jean Nicot, a French nobleman and ambassador to Portugal. In 1560 he sent a quantity of tobacco seeds from Lisbon to Paris, stating that they were the seeds of a valuable medicinal plant that was just then highly appreciated in Portugal, into which country it had been introduced from America 40 years before.

Too Personal.
A young man who was to be married in church to a Miss Way, after a courtship of four years, privately requested the choir not to open the service by singing "This is the way I long have sought."

Sued for $408 Dental Bill

This morning's Chicago papers give particulars of a case in court where a dentist is suing a patient for $408 for filling 14 teeth.

He brought in a lot of brother dentists who swore his charges were reasonable and that he might have charged anywhere from $300 to $1500 for the work and it would have been all fair.

That's just it. Some dentists charge all they think your purse will stand. That's where Dr. Richards is different.

He has fixed a fair price which will give him a living margin on his work. He makes gold crowns for $5.00 each and warrants them the same as you are paying $10.00 elsewhere.

The difference in price is all in the mind of the dentist you employ.

Not in the crown.

As a consequence, Dr. Richards is putting on as high as $50 crowns a month.

$10 is prohibitive but most any one feels that a tooth is worth $5 saved to them for years of good service.

If you have him do your work it will be done right.

PATROLMEN ON DUTY FORTY-EIGHT HOURS

Great Throng Was So Well Guarded That None Were Run Down or Robbed—18 Drunks Jailed.

After being on duty two nights and a day at a stretch, City Marshal Appleby and his men have reason to feel that they have earned their salaries. They also have the satisfaction of knowing that the greatest crowd in Janesville's history was so well guarded that no one was run down, beaten up in a brawl, robbed, or otherwise injured. Several evil-looking characters were promptly nabbed on suspicion, several of them being well dressed gentry. Eighteen were placed behind the bars to sober up but only three were taken to court this morning.

Clarence Lemon paid a fine of $2 and costs and Richard Sevin of Beloit, who was found asleep alongside of the river, cheerfully paid a fine of $1 and costs. Jerry Murphy was released on his promise to take the pledge. Just before the 12:40 train came in there was a free for all fight at the North-Western depot. The police promptly responded to the call but reached the scene just as the belligerent gentlemen were climbing aboard the cars, bound for Evansville. It seemed a good idea to allow their home authorities to look after them and they were permitted to depart.

..Forty Years Ago..
Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, July 5, 1867.—
THE FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION.
The Salute, The Crowd, The Procession, The Oration, The Races, The Match Ball Game, The Balloons.
THE SALUTE.
As the fourth of July would be nothing if it were not ushered in by the booming cannon and ringing bells, the day was duly inaugurated yesterday not only by the customary salutes but by a novel one which consisted of the whistling of some twenty locomotives whose iron throats joined in welcoming "the day we celebrate."
THE DAY.
Early yesterday morning clouds commenced gathering and by ten o'clock the indications were strongly for rain. Indeed, it did sprinkle briskly for awhile, but the clouds soon broke away, and the day as a whole proved to be an exceedingly fair one.
THE CROWD.
People from the country, weary with arduous labors incident to farming operations, and glad of an opportunity to enjoy a day of recreation, came to the city in large numbers, in gala attire, and with our own citizens gave to the streets a lively and somewhat crowded appearance.
THE PROCESSION AND ORATIONS.
The procession included marshals, band, carriages containing city officials, guests and citizens, a long line of carriages, Sherman's Bunnies and an immense wagon drawn by six grey horses and containing a representation of the various states of the Union, consisting of young ladies dressed in white, decked with flowers, sashes and national colors. The exercises were held at the grove and Hon. Byron Paine delivered the oration which was listened to by a large audience with warm attention.
THE RACES.
The program of races given by the Driving Park Association attracted two thousand people to the grounds, though a heavy truck prevented good time.
BAIL MATCH.
On the grounds of the Power City Baseball club, the Excelsior Juniors defeated the Bower City boys 50 to 24.
BALLOONS.
Prof. Cummings sent up two balloons yesterday afternoon and two in the evening.
As a whole we think the celebration gave very general satisfaction.

William W. Johnson, a wealthy lumberman of Potosky, Mich., was killed while racing with a dummy train with his automobile. While trying to turn his machine at a dangerous crossing, he was thrown under the wheels of the train.
Frank Schmelzer, of Silverton, Col., who was elected a member of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners, was killed by jumping from a moving train while on his way to give important testimony in the Haywood trial at Boise.
ROOSEVELT IS COMMENDED.
Resolutions Adopted at the New Mexico Irrigation Celebration.
Carlsbad, N. M., July 5.—The second day of the New Mexico irrigation celebration found several thousand people added to the crowds already here. Every part of New Mexico is represented. The program Thursday included speeches, a horse show, contests in driving, competitive events by the various departments represented, a formal flag-raising, steer riding and bronco busting.
Resolutions adopted, at a mass-meeting commended President Roosevelt for his broad grasp of western conditions, especially in connection with the irrigation projects of New Mexico. Mention was also made of the president's wise policy in reference to the public domain and the conservation of public forests. The resolutions declared unalterable adherence to the plan of single statehood for New Mexico.

The list of dead, so far as reported, is as follows: At Oakdale, Mr. and Mrs. John Dame, and two others, whose names have not been learned; at Millston, Mrs. Jasper Poff and infant; at Wyeville, Andrew Baumel; near Wardles, two children of Joseph Buckner; at Neillsville, Lyman A. Charles; at Grand Rapids, five persons, whose names have not been reported; near Gillsville, Mrs. Augusta Beyers and her son.
BUENA VISTA FLOOD SPREADS.
Grain Fields Burn at Same Time That Levee Breaks.
Bakersfield, Cal., July 5.—The flood of water in the rich reclaimed wheat lands in the lower part of Kern county caused by the breaking of the Buena Vista lake levee continued to spread Thursday and all resistance is useless until the auxiliary levee being constructed at the San Amadeo road is completed and the waters reach that point. The entire levee seems doomed.
Coincidental with the break in the levee was the breaking out of two large fires in the grain fields of Miller & Lux, nearly 20 miles distant from the lake. After burning all day the fires were finally extinguished Wednesday night before midnight. Two whole sections of grain were destroyed, aggregating between 15,000 and 20,000 sacks. Suspicion has been aroused from the fact that the fires and the levee break occurred simultaneously.

Elephant vs. Crocodile.
An African hunter once found a large crocodile hanging in the fork of a tree about ten feet from the ground. As the place was fully half a mile from any water, it was difficult to account for the crocodile's strange position. When questioned upon the subject the natives explained that it was put there by an elephant. It seems that when the elephants wade into the Lake Ngami to bathe the crocodiles are in the habit of worrying them and biting their legs. Sometimes when an elephant is annoyed beyond endurance it picks its tormentor up and puts it among the branches of a tree and leaves it there.—Tit-Bits.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

S. S. S. is recognized everywhere not only as the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, but the one medicine that can be taken with absolute safety by everyone. Young or old, those in robust health, or those whose systems are delicate and run-down, may use it with the same good results, and equally without fear of any unpleasant or injurious after effects. Next in importance to removing the cause of any disease is the condition in which the system is left after a course of medical treatment. Medicines containing mercury, potash or other strong mineral ingredients often do permanent injury by eating out the delicate lining and tissues of the stomach, producing chronic dyspepsia, unfavorably affecting the bowels, and so deranging the system otherwise, that even if the original disease had been removed from the system it is left in such a weakened and deranged condition that the health is permanently impaired. S. S. S. enjoys the distinction of being the only blood medicine on the market that does not contain a mineral ingredient of some kind. It is made entirely of the healing, cleansing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks gathered directly from the forests and fields of nature, under our own supervision, and when they reach our laboratory contain all their original valuable tonic and blood purifying properties. We offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that S. S. S. contains a particle of mineral in any form. Being made entirely from these vegetable ingredients S. S. S. is absolutely harmless to the system, and while curing disease adds health and strength to every part of the body. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood troubles by removing the cause and supplying the circulation with health-giving and strength-producing qualities.

Dog Jealousy.
There is a strong trait of jealousy in a dog's nature. A story is told of a Birmingham dog that had been a great pet in the family until the baby came. There was suspicion that he was jealous, but he could not be detected in any disrespect to the newcomer. It always happened, however, that when the dog was left alone with the baby the baby began to cry. No signs of trouble were ever to be seen upon entering the room, and the dog was always found sleeping peacefully before the fire. Finally one day a peep through the keyhole disclosed the canine rubbing his cold wet nose up and down the baby's back.—Outing Magazine.

FREAK STATUARY TO ORDER.

Sculptor Tells of Quaker Orders Given Him by His Patrons.

A sculptor was talking about freak statuary. "I turn out a lot of it," he said. "Not that I like to. I have to. So many of our millionaires have uncouth tastes. I made last fall portrait busts of a western millionaire and his wife. The wife wears spectacles, and nothing would do but I must put spectacles on her bust. I argued, but in vain. That bust stands in the millionaire's spacious library to-day and spectacles rest on its nose. I did last month a bust in colors, a bust of a young girl. The marble hair I gilded, the marble eyes I painted blue, and the marble lips and cheeks I floored with red. A hideous thing, yet the family was immensely pleased. The freakiest of my freak statues stands in a Boston garden. It is the statue of the owner's grandfather, an old Presbyterian divine. The aged man stands in the center of a bed of jonquills, and out of the top of his plug hat a jet of water spurts, falling into a marble basin that he holds in his hands, a basin wherein swim half a dozen goldfish. The idea of treating one's grandfather like that!"

CHAPTER X.

The castle of the Prince of Doppelkinn rested in the very heart of the celebrated vineyards. Like all German castles I ever saw or heard of, it was a relic of the Middle Ages, with many a crumbling, useless tower and battlement. It stood on the south side of a rugged hill which was gashed by a narrow but turbulent stream, in which lurked the rainbow trout that lured the lazy man from his labors afield. (And who among us shall cast a stone at the lazy man? Not I!) If you are fortunate enough to run about Europe next year, as like as not you will be mailing home the "Doppelkinn" postcard.

More than once I have wandered about the castle's interior, cavernous and musty, strolled through its galleries of ancient armor, searched its dungeon-keep, or loitered to soliloquize in the gloomy judgment chamber. How time wars upon custom! In olden times they created pain; now they strive to subdue it. I might go into a detailed history of the Doppelkinn, only it would be absurd and unnecessary, since it would be inappreciable under the name of Doppelkinn, which happens to be, as doubtless you have already surmised, a name of mine own invention. I could likewise tell you how the ancient dukes of Barscholt fought off the insidious flattery of Napoleon, only it is a far interest, and Barscholt is simply a characteristic, not a name. Some day I may again seek a diplomatic mission, and what government would have for its representative a teller of tales out of school?

It was, then, to continue the fortunes and misfortunes of Max Scharfenstein, close to midnight when the cavalcade crossed the old moat-bridge, which hadn't moved on its hinges within a hundred years. They were not entering by the formal way, which was a flower-bedecked, terraced road. It was the rear entrance. The iron doors swung outward with a plaintive moaning, like that of a man roused out of his sleep, and Max found himself in an ancient guard-room, now used as a kind of secondary stable. The men dismounted.

"This way, Herr Ellis," said the colonel, with a mocking bow. He pointed toward a broad stone staircase.

"All I ask," said Max, "is a fair chance to explain my presence here."

"In due time. Forward!" The prince is waiting and his temper may not be as smooth as usual. With two troopers in front of him and two behind, Max climbed the steps readily enough. They wouldn't dare kill him, whatever they did. He tried to imagine himself the hero of some Scott or Dumas tale, with a grim cardinal somewhere above, and occultities and torture chambers besetting his path. But the absurdity of his imagination, so thoroughly Americanized, evoked a ringing laughter. The troopers eyed him curiously. He might laugh later, but it was scarcely probable. A tramp through a dark corridor and they came to the west wing of the castle. It was here that the old prince lived, comfortably and luxuriously enough, you may take my word for it.

A door opened, flooding the corridor with light. Max felt himself gently pushed over the threshold. He stood in the great living-room of the modern Doppelkinn. The first person he saw was the princess. She sat on an oriental divan. Her hands were folded; she sat very erect; her chin was tilted obliquely; there was so little expression on her pale face that she might have been an incomplete statue. But

Max was almost certain that there was just the faintest flicker of a smile in her eyes as she saw him enter. Glorious eyes! (It is a bad sign when a man begins to use the superlative adjective!)

The other occupant of the room was an old man, fat and bald, with a nose like a russet pear. He was stalking— if it is possible for a short man to stalk—up and down the length of the room, and, judging from the sonorous, rumbling sound, was communicating half-aloud. Between whistles he was rubbing his tender nose, carefully and lovingly. When a man's nose resembles a russet pear it generally is tender. Whoever he was, Max saw that he was vastly agitated about something.

This old gentleman was (or supposed he was) the last of his line, the Prince of Doppelkinn, famous for his wiles and his love of them. There was, so his subjects said, but one tender spot in the heart of this old man, and that was the memory of the wife of his youth. (How the years, the good and bad, crowd behind us, pressing us on and on!) However, there was always succor in the cellars—that is, the Doppelkinn cellars.

"Hail!" he roared as he saw the blinking Max. "So this is the fellow!" He made an eloquent gesture. "Your highness must be compelled upon your good taste. The fellow isn't bad-looking."

"When you listen to reason, prince," replied the girl calmly, "you will apologize to the gentleman and give him his liberty."

"Oh, he is a gentleman, is he?" "You might learn from him many of the common rules of courtesy,"—tranquilly.

"Who the devil are you?" the prince demanded of Max.

"I should be afraid to tell you. I hold that I am Max Scharfenstein, but the colonel here declares that my name is Ellis. Who are you?" Max wasn't the least bit frightened. These were no feudal times.

The prince stared at him. The insolent puppy!

"I am the prince."

"Ah, your serene highness," began Max, bowing.

"I am not called 'serene,'"—rudely.

"The grand duke, is serene."

"Permit me to doubt that," interrupted the girl, smiling.

Max laughed aloud, which didn't improve his difficulties any.

"I have asked you who you are!" bawled the prince, his nose turning purple.

"My name is Max Scharfenstein. I am an American. If you will wire the American consulate at Barscholt, you will learn that I have spoken the truth. All this is a mistake. The princess did not elope with me."

"His papers give the name of Ellis," said the colonel, touching his cap.

"Humph!" We'll soon find out who he is and what may be done with him. I'll wait for the duke. Take him into the library and lock the door. It's a hundred feet out of the window, and if he wants to break his neck, he may do so. It will save us so much trouble. Take him away! Take him away!" his rage boiling to the surface.

The princess shrugged.

"I can't talk to you either," said the prince, turning his glowering eyes upon the girl. "I can't trust myself."

"Oh, do not mind me. I understand that your command of expletives is rather original. Go on; it will be my only opportunity." The princess rocked backward and forward on the divan. Wasn't it funny!

"Lord help me, and I was perfectly willing to marry this girl!" The prince suddenly calmed down. "What have I ever done to offend you?"

"Nothing," she was forced to admit. "I was lonely. I wanted youth about. I wanted to hear laughter that came from the heart and not from the mind. I do not see where I am to be blamed. The duke suggested you to me; I believed you to be willing. Why did you not say to me that I was not agreeable? It would have simplified everything."

"I am sorry," she said contritely. "When he spoke like this he wasn't so unlovable."

"People say," he went on, "that I spend most of my time in my wine-cellars. Well,"—defiantly—"what else is there for me to do? I am alone." Max came within his range of vision. "Take him away, I tell you!"

BATTLESHIP CRUISE MATTER OF ROUTINE

FIGHTING VESSELS MAY NOT GO TO PACIFIC, SAYS LOEB.

METCALF SAYS THEY WILL

Secretary of Navy Tells Californians the Squadron Has Been Ordered Around the Horn.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 5.—The basis of the report that a fleet of 16 American battleships was to be sent to the Pacific is probably explained in an official statement made public at the executive offices here Thursday.

While not expressly stated, it is intimated that the battleships may go to the Pacific in the near future, but if they do, it will be in furtherance only of a plan of routine naval maneuvers. Moreover, it is added that the matter of destination is undetermined and the fleet is quite as likely to be ordered to the Mediterranean or the south Atlantic as to the Pacific. In any event, the statement emphasizes that no political significance is to be attached to the trip; and it is further made clear that the inference that friction between individual citizens of this country and natives of Japan has influenced the government in the disposition of its fighting sea force is not justified.

It is the policy of the navy department to get the battleships together occasionally for an extended cruise. Arrangements for such a cruise are now under way. They may or may not mature by the coming winter.

Metcalfe Confirms News.

Oakland, Cal., July 5.—Secretary of the Navy Victor H. Metcalfe, in an interview Thursday, confirmed the report that a large part of the United States navy will be seen in Pacific waters next winter. Eighteen or 20 of the largest battleships will come around Cape Horn on a practice cruise and will be seen in San Francisco harbor.

"Many false impressions have gained circulation about the proposed movement of this part of the United States navy," said Secretary Metcalfe. "I have held all along that there was practically no significance to this movement from a military standpoint. I might have stated before leaving Washington exactly what I am saying now. I thought as the news concerned the people of the Pacific coast, to-day would be an appropriate time to announce the exact plans."

It is the policy of the navy department at the present time to keep the fleet in American waters as much as possible. It is also our policy, as has been stated, to keep as large a number of battleships together as possible. We might as well spend the money that is devoted to our navy in American ports as abroad. In the past we have sent squadrons to various European nations with less advantage than by keeping them at home.

Cruise Is for Practice.

"I have planned this cruise around Cape Horn for the practice of the squadron. How long they will spend in these waters I cannot say at present. I can promise the people of Oakland and San Francisco that they will see one of the finest naval spectacles ever witnessed in Pacific waters."

"I hope the talk of Japanese troubles and of international differences may be dropped by all of the newspapers of the country. There is nothing to produce any feeling except this talk of the newspapers. It is without foundation. The story that Ambassador Aoki is in disfavor with his own government I believe purely an invention. I know of no reason at the present time why Japan and the United States should not be on the friendliest of terms."

its pledge to maintain Korean independence.

The emperor denied having any knowledge of the deputation or its action, whereupon Marquis Ito remarked:

"It is not necessary to inquire who is responsible for the deputation, as its actions are self-explanatory and the whole world is in possession of the facts."

In an interview with a correspondent Marquis Ito said that the attempt being made at The Hague to connect Korean affairs with the San Francisco question would mislead no one. The intrigues of the Korean court, he added, were continuous. The reported facts that the palace conference had not recognized the deputation and that no one had requested to see its credentials showed the ignorance of the outside world regarding this latest move of the Korean court, but the emperor's persistence in such intrigues constituted a hostile action against the Japanese which must be stopped.

SQUIRES EASILY BEATEN.

Australian Whipped by Tommy Burns in First Round.

San Francisco, July 5.—Bill Squires, the much-heralded champion of Australia, succumbed to the blow of a Canadian fist at Colma Thursday after he had been in the ring two minutes with Tommy Burns. The men who witnessed the brief meeting between the two pugilists were charitable enough not to call him a "dub." They designated him a "false alarm," who should have been pitted against a fourth-rate fighter rather than any pugilist with the slightest possession of ring skill.

To say that the 9,000 persons who journeyed out to Colma to witness the fight were disappointed would be phrasing it too mildly. It was a hot day and the journey to Colma was a disagreeable one. Hundreds of persons came from other states to see the leading fighter of the Antipodes battle with the light heavyweight champion of the United States and anticipation was keyed up to the highest point. Squires started in to rush Burns, and was sent down with a right to the jaw. He arose wobbly and again was knocked down. Again he stood up, but Burns landed blow after blow and then put Squires out with a right on the point of the jaw.

Christening Rehearsal Struck Clergyman as New Idea.

"These college girls," said a clergyman, as he gazed at the white and superb ranks of beautiful graduates, "are a boon to the race. They introduce new ideas. I christened the other day the first baby of a married college girl. Now, babies usually cry while they are being christened, but this one was as quiet as a lamb. Throughout the ceremony it smiled up beautifully into my face." "Well, madam," said I to the young wife at the christening's end, "I must congratulate you on your little one's behavior. I have christened more than 2,000 babies, but I never before christened one that behaved so well as yours." The young mother smiled demurely. "No wonder he behaved well," she said. "His father and I, with a pall of water, have been practicing christening on him for the last ten days." The idea of rehearsing a baby for a christening! Who but a college girl would think of such a thing?

Irreverent Yankee.

Adam Engel, a few days before he closed his historic chop house in Herald square, lunched with a Denver correspondent. "The loss of this chop house will be a great loss to New York," said the correspondent. "It will be like," he went on eloquently, "the obliteration of some historic light." "I hope," said the modest Engel, "that it won't be so bad as that. Speaking of lights, by the way, I hope that my chop house's departure won't inflict any such loss as a certain Yankee, by an uncontrollable impulse, once inflicted on a Buddhist temple in Japan." They say, you know, that a priest, showing this Yankee over an ancient shrine, led the man reverently to a small silver lamp. "This lamp," he said, "has not been extinguished for seven centuries." The Yankee puffed out his cheeks and blew. "Well," he said, "I guess she's out now, anyway."

The Janesville Copper Cable Lightning Rod

absolutely protects your buildings from damage by lightning—we guarantee it.

You ask: "How can you afford to give such a guarantee?"

Well, we've always given this guarantee; we've never been called upon to "pay up" on it—and we never will.

—Simply because science, backed by experience, proves that no building properly "rodded" with our rod CAN be struck by lightning.

Our rod is a pure copper cable; it carries off, as fast as it forms, the electricity which accumulates in a building during a thunder-storm, and thus it prevents the condition which makes it possible for a building to be struck.

If your home is equipped with the Janesville Copper Cable Lightning Rod, you need have no fear of the most severe electrical storm.

When it's convenient we'd be glad to have you drop in and see how our rod is made and how it works.
